PRAQ!

"Finally a band which sounds like its name"

- Guido Spannocchi (Saxophone)
- July Skone (Drums)
- Aleksandar Zaric (Bass)

Challenging the aesthetics of Punk, Jazz and Breakbeat-Electro!

A pan-European three-piece consisting of Saxophone, bass, drums and electronics, PRAQ! are the first band to ever record in a nuclear power plant, under a 20m high highway bridge, in a shipping container or on a frozen lake.

Whaling horns, throbbing bass-lines, stomping beats with echoes of Battles, !!! (chk chk chk) and Lucky Chops, but with a sound all of their own that defies the very genres they tip-toe.

Debut album 'STROM' is an 11 track platter of various styles, experiments and flavours featuring an eclectic range of special guest appearances, including Dr. Stephan Wildner (of Austrian punk veteran's Chuzpe), vocals by Kay Elizabeth and Gianna Charles, scratches by Ottomatic and more.
